A Passenger Train Robbed on a Texas Railroad.

THE ST JOSEPH BOND THIEVES ARRESTED AT NEW YORK.

The Joseph Smith Mormons hold a Mass Meeting and Denounce their Utah Brethren.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE [illegible]

DALLAS, Texas, April 10—The north bound train on the Gulf, Colorado & Santa Fe railroad was robbed a few miles south of [illegible] Friday night, at a water station called Blum. Six men wearing masks and roughly dressed entered the passenger coaches, two took positions and guarded the doors at either end, the others went through the car with cocked pistols, one carrying a pillow slip and ordering a missionary fund from all passengers who gave up their money. When they were about through with the passengers the conductor entered the car and seeing what was up rushed for the car door and one of the robbers fired at him but he escaped unhurt, the ball passing through the express car door. All the robbers then jumped off and disappeared. The amount secured is not known. Several parties gave up large sums and one of the passengers says the robbers got about $1,500 and others say not over $400 or $500. Officers were notified at Fort Worth and a posse of men with bloodhounds were put in pursuit. No arrests are reported yet. It is thought this is the gang who attempted to wreck the north bound night train three weeks ago by removing a rail. Authorities suspect certain parties, green hands at the business, and will endeavor to secure their arrest. They used old cap and ball navy revolvers.

The St. Joseph Bond Steal.

ST. JOSEPH, April 9—The week which has opened in this city with the killing of Jesse James, the most consuming sensation of many years, is closing with a remarkable report of a huge bond steal. A private telegram was received in this city this afternoon from New York stating that two men from St. Joseph were arrested in the former city having in their possession $100,000 of St. Joseph 4 per cent bonds which they were trying to negotiate. The finance committee of the city council have been investigating the matter this afternoon and are still in session to-night. They have found some of the new bonds to the amount stated have been abstracted from the register's office and no satisfactory explanation can be made as to how they were obtained. The fact is not generally known in this city to-night for members of the council have endeavored to keep the matter quiet pending the investigation in progress. Your correspondent can't give the name of the parties implicated in New York, but it is said they are two men who have roomed here during the winter in a building on Edmond st. Ex-Mayor Piper, City Register Ringo and City Marshal Ringo have left for New York to look after the matter.

The Kansas Winds.

TOPEKA, Ks., April 9—News is coming from various portions of the state relative to the high winds of Wednesday evening. The house of Tom Perry, twelve miles northeast of Abilene, was struck by lightning and a son of Mr. Perry killed. The same storm blew down a windmill tower in the neighborhood and a number of houses were moved in different parts of the country. Other persons are reported killed, but there is nothing positive about it. At Chapman, in the same vicinity, the Methodist church was completely demolished. At Manhattan the storm last night tore the roof from the Methodist church and blew down numerous outbuildings. In this city there was heavy rain but no wind.

JUNCTION CITY, Kan., April 9—About 11 o'clock last night a tornado passed over this neighborhood from the southwest which was very destructive. At Fort Riley most all the buildings were unroofed and a portion of the walls destroyed, involving a loss of from $250,000 to $300,000. Two soldiers were hurt, one very dangerously. One horse was killed and six wounded. At Wakefield, Clay county, eight houses were destroyed in all portions of the county and barns, outhouses and fences were destroyed but no damage done in Junction City.

EL DORADO, Kan., April 9—A cyclone swept over Rosalia township, in this county, last night at about 10:30, overturning three houses and killing Mr. David Henry, breaking the thigh of Mrs. J. G. Paul, and injuring fatally three children. Houses were hurled into the air and then dashed to splinters upon the earth. Not a whole board or shingle can be found of them. The storm passed from southwest to northeast, and was preceded as usual by the meeting of two dark clouds. No extensive damage resulted to property from the fact that after demolishing the houses it passed into the sparsely settled [illegible]. Posts of a wire fence were twisted from the ground and carried away. A son of Mr. Plants, [illegible] years old, was carried over some high trees adjoining the homestead and then let down on his feet. Mr. Henry was not found for some three hours after the storm and was then just dying.

MCPHERSON, Kan., April 9.—The storm of Friday night blew down a stone house in Delmar township, near this city, in which Wesley Bryant and family resided. Mrs. Bryant and two children were buried in the ruins and dead when taken out.

Killed by the Tornado.

EAST SAGINAW, April 10—Rev. Isaac Fuller, residing in Homer township, Midland county, was killed by the tornado Thursday evening. His house was demolished and several other persons injured in the neighborhood. The storm swept through several townships in Bay county, doing great damage to property.

Cyclone in Iowa.

DES MOINES, April 10—A cyclone struck the agricultural college at Ames this afternoon, doing considerable damage. Prof. [illegible] and wife and Wm. McCarthy and wife were injured, and a student named Cornell badly hurt. It is feared more damage has been done north of Ames.

Anti-Chinese Resolutions.

NEW YORK, April 10.—Amalgamated trades unions have adopted resolutions declaring that as the president had vetoed the bill to restrict importation of coolies, the trades unions regard it as another evidence of the governing classes that the interests of the working population were not considered and that the president had ignored the interests of the people by protecting the interests of the six Chinese companies, and extending a greeting to their brothers on the Pacific coast, bidding them to continue their work and assuring them that victory will crown their efforts. A platform of principles calls for eight hours for a day's work, compensation to be just and fair for labor performed.

Italians Raise a Riot.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., April 9.—About 400 Italians have been at work here on the West Shore railroad. Not getting pay to-day as expected, they congregated around the Zoller house, where the contractor is stopping, and commenced stoning and firing into the house. The Grand Army post was called out and dispersed the rioters, but not before they had done considerable damage. A few of the inmates of the hotel were seriously injured, though none of the Italians were wounded by pistol shots fired by the inmates. Trouble is feared to-night. The Italians have threatened to burn the town. Help from neighboring towns has been asked for and when it arrives will be enough to protect the village.

A Land Question.

ST. LOUIS, April 10.—A Republican's Jefferson City special says: Gov. Crittenden left for Washington to-day to attend to some business connected with the land interests of the state. The recent trial of [illegible] Lindsay and others for fraudulent land entries and forgeries connected therewith, has developed the fact that these frauds have attained some [illegible] six million acres of land in southeast Missouri. The United States government is about to commence proceedings for possession of these lands, a large amount of which have passed into the hands of innocent parties who have spent much time and money in improving them, and to now dispossess them would work great hardship.

Special Election to be Ordered.

A special election to fill the vacancy in the congressional delegation of this state occasioned by the death of Thomas Allen, will be ordered in a few days.

Serious Explosion.

NEW YORK, April 10—Nicoll Dbut, N. Barra, Frank Adesull, Kate Hill and Mary Alexander were carousing last night at No. 74 Thompson street, when one of them picked up a bundle of rags which had been brought in from the street and threw it into the stove to start a fire. Immediately there was an explosion and three of the inmates of the room were badly hurt, none fatally. The cause of the explosion is unknown.

Assassinated for Betrayal.

KANSAS CITY, April 10—It was reported to-night that Tucker Basham, who was convicted of participating in the Glendale train robbery and who was pardoned out to testify against Bill Ryan, was assassinated some ten days ago in Kansas. The James gang had sworn to take his life and it is supposed they have accomplished the threat.

War among the Mormons.

ST. LOUIS, April 10—The Mormon conference now being held at Independence, Mo., is making a vigorous war upon polygamy, and has unanimously adopted a resolution thanking President Arthur and congress for passing the anti-polygamy bill.

Mass Meeting of Protestors.

BUFFALO, April 10—An immense mass meeting was held to-night for the purpose of protesting against the action of the British government in imprisoning American citizens. The mayor presided.

Smallpox at Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, April 10—During the past week 50 deaths have occurred from smallpox. 135 new cases were reported and 200 are under treatment.

A Ship to be Heard From.

NEW YORK, April 10—Commodore Luce is unable to understand the non arrival of the U. S. training ship Portsmouth. He has heard nothing from her since her departure from Hampton roads.

Arraigned for Trial.

NEW YORK, April 10—The St. Joseph bond thieves Jas. Fish and George W. Irwin were arraigned to-day, but remanded to await arrival of St. Joseph officials Wednesday and a requisition.

The Good Father.

Wall Street Daily News.

"Father," began the innocent child as he leaned on his father's knee, [illegible]

"Yes, I hope so, my son."

"You wouldn't cheat anybody out of a cent, would you?"

"Of course I wouldn't. Why do you ask?"

"Suppose, father, that [illegible] Wabash preferred which had cost [illegible] $80?"

"Yes."

"And they went down to 56."

"Yes."

"And suppose an old friend from Elmira came here to buy stocks, and could be talked into believing that Wabash preferred would touch 75 before December, would you unload on him at 60 and take his cash?"

"Ahem—that is—son, here, Sylvanus, the next time I have a dear old friend call to see me and you listen at the door to catch our conversation you'll be gratified on curiosity that will last you a lifetime. Tell your mother to put you to bed an hour ahead of time for the next week!"

Mining Decision.

In the case of the Concordia Mining Co. vs. Addenda Mining Co., pending in the United States circuit court, Judge Sawyer this morning rendered a decision in favor of the Concordia Mining Co. for all ground in dispute. The decision practically wipes out the south half of the Addenda location.

A Ruffian Arrested.

SACRAMENTO, April 10—A man named Simon Paton had a difficulty a few days ago with one Erickson. A fight ensued when Erickson whipped Paton badly. To-day the latter met the former on the street and drawing a pistol fired at him. He missed Erickson but the ball took effect in the hand of a young man named J. J. Livingston. Paton fled and was pursued by a crowd. Being pressed he fired again, the ball striking James Lansing, an old and respected citizen, inflicting a very dangerous wound. Paton was captured and lodged in jail. Excitement is intense and there is strong talk of lynching. Paton is a worthless drunken fellow.

Bodie Mining Notes.

BODIE, April 10—The Standard shaft is down 1210 feet. The east crosscut on the 1000 level is in 672 feet. The south drift from the same is in 59 feet with no marked change.

The Bodie has resumed sinking the Lent shaft and has crushed 114 tons. Average pulp assays $70; weekly shipment, $10,790. The winze on the rich vein is down 27 feet and the drift is 128 feet long without diminution in quality or quantity of ore.

The west crosscut started from the north drift of the 700 level of Noonday and North Noonday's incline is down 188 feet below the 500 level. The north drift, 30 feet above the bottom winze, is in 13 feet.

The Red Cloud shaft is down 762 feet. The east crosscut of the 700 level is in 32 feet.

The Concordia 600 drift continues in rich ore. The east crosscut on the 714 level is approaching the ledge and is in about 120 feet.

The Goodshaw east crosscut on the 760 level is in 110 feet.

Union Con. south drift is in 213 feet.

MEXICO.

Mexican Railroad and Mining Notes.

TUCSON, April 10.—A special from Guaymas dated April 6th says Messrs. Herly and Robinson have started for Magdalena on railroad business. With them go B. P. Phelps and Paul Wright, late of Guaymas, the latter two en route to New York.

The railroad is being built at the rate of a mile and a half a day and is now at Summit, 80 miles from Hermosillo. A section is being constructed at Hacquiti.

The steamer Sonora is overdue.

Work on the Calla Gertrude is being vigorously prosecuted under the superintendence of L. D. Harper.

A large quantity of brick has been contracted for to build a depot at Guaymas. Nearly all the brick for building the state college at Hermosillo is ready and the work of construction will be commenced about the 5th of May, when the corner stone will be laid.

A rumor apparently well founded, is current here that the road from Guaymas to the line has been sold to the A. T. & S. F. Co. and that after the line reaches Magdalena, a branch will be started from Tejuaga via Bronzia and Frinidad to tap the Mexican Central at or near Chihuahua.

Gov. Lamotua and family, left for Tucson on the 4th inst.

Weather cool and pleasant.

Dan Dullevers, brakeman on the train from Hermosillo to the end of track, was killed to-day by falling from the front cars. Twenty-seven cars passed over him.

A special to Gov. Tritle from Prescott, says the stage from the A. & P. railroad was stopped on the 6th inst. and the passengers and mail robbed and again on the 7th near the same place, just beyond Flagstaff.

Railroad Progress.

Hon. Eugene Sullivan returned last night from Guaymas, Sonora. He reports rapid progress of the railroad. It is expected to be completed to the line by June. He was much pleased with the rapid influx of Americans in Sonora.

ARIZONA.

Gen. Sherman's arrival at Tucson.

TUCSON, April 10—Gen. Sherman and party arrived this evening from Fort Huachuca. They were met by a committee of citizens at Benson. The S. P. railway placed a special car at the disposal of the general and party. On arriving at the depot at this place, they were met by about 3000 people and the cornet band, which played national airs. The party were escorted to a hotel in carriages and were dined by the city council and other prominent citizens. To-morrow they visit San Xavier and Fort Lowell, and Wednesday they will leave on the evening for Los Angeles, where they will remain two days.

NEVADA.

Virginia City Notes.

VIRGINIA, April 10—Thos. Brown, a miner, was struck on the head last week by a falling rock at the Osbiston shaft and died yesterday. Examination after death showed the skull was split down to the base of the brain on both sides.

Dennis Hennessy, who killed Deputy County Clerk Kelleher last June, to-day had a second trial and the jury found a verdict of not guilty.

On the 5th inst. the Syndicate of Bodie sent to the Carson mint a bar of bullion worth $8,429.

Death of a Prominent Miner.

EUREKA, Nev., April 10—Joseph Potts, a prominent miner, died here last night. He settled in Mariposa, Cal., in 1859 and from there went to Virginia, Nev. He went to White Pine during the excitement and became foreman of the famous Eberhardt. He removed to Eureka and became foreman of the Richmond, and afterwards took a similar position in the Albion. He was a 32 degree Mason, under the auspices of which society he will be buried to-morrow.

Mutiny at Victoria.

A mutiny has occurred at Cowichan on board the bark Mary Winkleman, loading there with railway ties. No particulars. A posse of police have started for the scene.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Victoria Notes.

VICTORIA, April 10—Stahlschmidt & Ward report that the British steamships Euphrates, 1716 tons, and Escombra 1[illegible]7 tons, and ships Blue Jacket and W. J. Rotch sailed about ten days ago from Hong Kong for Victoria. The steamships have between 2000 and 2500 Chinese and the ships about [illegible] more. The steamships are due this month. The Chinese are intended for railway work. Other ships are to follow.

The mail steamship Idaho sailed at noon with the following Victoria passengers: Mrs. N. Hayes, J. Finlayson, A. G. Ferguson, P. O'Reilly, wife and child, Miss O'Reilly, J. McMullen, T. L. Scott, W. H. Bourke and 12 in the steerage.

No inquest will be held on the three sailors who were drowned Friday night.

Belford on the Indian Question.

CINCINNATI, April 10.—Gazette's Washington: Judge Belford of Colorado wants to open up the Ute reservation in his state for settlement. He has some vigorous views [illegible] regarding [illegible] the Indians [illegible] 150,000 Indians who occupy [illegible] equal to England and [illegible] as large as the German empire and [illegible] Indians have not cultivated over 500,000 acres. We allow white men to take [illegible] acres of land [illegible] their cultivation sooner or later. When we deal with Indians we make no such conditions [illegible] where we give the white man an acre. In my judgment the country was made for men who are willing to cultivate it and make its products contribute to the welfare of mankind. A white man can so utilize one acre as to promote the happiness and comfort of hundreds of people. Indians require from six thousand to ten thousand acres over which he may roam in search of game. [illegible] voted to the comfort and maintenance of the men who are willing to cultivate it [illegible] what will neither adopt our mode [illegible] civilization. Looking at all phases of the question there are but two things for the Indians to do—work or starve. No man has a right to [illegible] unless willing to cultivate it. We appropriate now $5,000,000 [illegible] to support at least [illegible] If congress were asked to appropriate that amount to support the same number of white men [illegible] What is the difference [illegible] Indian and a white man that is the only question and [illegible]

FIRES.

Fire at Red Wing, Minnesota.

ST. PAUL, April 10—A special from Red Wing to the Pioneer-Press says: Half of the block bounded by Bush, Third and Broadway streets is on fire. The fire originated at 8 P. M. in a livery stable occupied by Webster & Perkins on Third street, cause unknown. A brisk wind was blowing westward and the opera house soon caught fire, as did a house of Mr. Coggs and Dr. Allen's residence. It then spread northerly and caught in a wooden building on Main street occupied as a second hand store, omnibus stable and city express. This was all done in the course of [illegible] minutes. Comparatively nothing could be saved of the articles in these buildings except livery horses and some carriages. The fire is still spreading toward other buildings. Tony Bragg's meat market and store adjoining, together with Coggle's brick, in the second story of which the Odd Fellows hall is situated, corner of Main and Broadway is in great danger. Stores east of Webster & Perkins livery stable are also going. The fire company is doing valuable service in keeping the fire from Continental block containing the Goodhue county bank and other stores and offices.

A DARING DEED

The Story of a Raid Made During the Civil War.

New York [illegible]

The [illegible] In April, 1862, General Mitchell [illegible] Tennessee. [illegible] had just [illegible] It was then the daring deed [illegible] General Mitchell saw the vital importance of taking and holding Chattanooga, situated at a point on the great railroad line between the west and the east [illegible] of the confederacy with [illegible] Tennessee. If he could burn the wooden bridges on the line between Chattanooga and Atlanta he could prevent the advance of troops from the South while he moved down to Chattanooga with his army. He selected twenty-one men commanded by J. J. Andrews to undertake the desperate enterprise of penetrating two hundred miles south into the heart of the enemy's territory with the intention of burning the bridges. In the daring of its conception, said Judge Advocate General Joseph Holt, "it had the wildness of romance while in the overwhelming results which it sought to accomplish, it was absolutely sublime." Clad in citizens' clothes, and representing themselves to be secessionists, the soldiers of this forlorn hope set out on foot through the enemy's country by twos and threes and after many adventures assembled at Marietta, a point on the railway north of Atlanta. They decided to take passage on some northbound train, to overpower the guard, seize the engine and dash on with all speed, burning bridges and tearing up the rails, leaving flames and destruction behind them. They would go through Chattanooga, and meet Mitchell as he advanced on the road from the north. The adventurous travelers bought tickets for different points, and on the morning of April 12th seated themselves in the same car. When a station called Big Shanty was reached the train stopped twenty minutes for breakfast. The passengers and trainmen passed into the eating room leaving the engine without a guard. The adventurous walked forward, and when a signal was given the passenger cars were uncoupled and as two of the party started the engine, the remainder leaped into an open car which was still attached to it. If they had captured the train one day earlier they might have been successful but it was too late. The advance of Mitchell had so frightened the rebels that they had sent all the rolling stock from Chattanooga southward. As the adventurers proceeded they met many of these unscheduled trains and were greatly delayed in passing them. Andrews represented himself as a confederate officer who had impressed the train in order to carry powder through to Beauregard at Corinth, and excited no suspicion. But while he was losing time in passing the unexpected trains the conductor who had been left in the Big Shanty eating house was not idle. Having no engine he began his pursuit on foot. He was soon lucky enough to find a hand car and not long afterward he got possession of a good locomotive, which by rare good fortune had come down the road in the nick of time on a private track [illegible] extended to an iron factory. The raiders were then hotly pursued. For nearly 100 miles the desperate chase continued until at last the tempted locomotive exhausted and shattered was abandoned and the captors fled to the woods. After much suffering these brave men were caught. They were denounced as spies and were dragged through the streets of [illegible] chained to each other [illegible] [illegible] at Washington [illegible] and [illegible] any other place. The horrors of their confinement were almost beyond description. Further [illegible] after a trial and [illegible] by [illegible] Andrews the leader was hanged as a spy in Chattanooga. His companions were taken to Atlanta where seven of them were tried, convicted and hanged as spies. One was given 100 lashes. For six months some of the survivors and for seven months others were constantly expecting death. The sufferings and the indignities inflicted upon them are said to have been incredibly terrible. Nearly all of the survivors have received small pensions on account of wounds inflicted in the latter part of the war or for disability caused by their imprisonment. Three have applied and have not received pensions and one has not applied. The prisoners were defended in the confederacy by Judges Baxter and Temple who assert that they clearly showed that the expedition was a military one under General Mitchell's command and that the men were not spies. It appears that the confederate government did not regard them as spies, for the trial of the survivors was stopped after the execution of Andrews and his seven companions. The committee holds that they suffered an outrage in their treatment which justifies their appeal for consideration. One of them has had his pension increased to $20 per month by special act. The committee recommends that all the survivors of this daring expedition be allowed a pension of that amount.

STRIKING A LIGHT.

How it was Done Before the Friction Match was Invented.

Providence Star

People who light their pipes, cigars or lamps or kindle their fires by the instantaneous ignition of friction matches, have, unless they are old people, very little conception of the labor and tribulation attendant upon the same process fifty years ago. Every well regulated family at that time was provided with a tin box of tinder, produced by the combustion of rags, and a flint and steel and matches which had been dipped in brimstone. With these it was the duty of [illegible] to procure light [illegible] by means of the flint and steel [illegible] the burning mass and [illegible] was [illegible] the whole occupying from five to fifteen minutes, according to the skill or luck of the operator. This was a tedious and [illegible] and unproductive at times [illegible] many naughty words on the part of [illegible] There were generally kept all night [illegible] there were few stoves and [illegible] by covering the huge and blazing back log in the fireplace with ashes [illegible] in the morning there was generally found in its place a bed of live coals which by the application of fresh wood and with the aid of the then universal bellows usually produced a blazing fire in from fifteen minutes to half an hour. But sometimes it went out [illegible] the back log would be wholly consumed leaving nothing but ashes [illegible] [illegible] in the house [illegible] the family must take the shovel [illegible] the nearest neighbor [illegible] would have to be extended [illegible] was procured. The live coals were [illegible] in the shovel after carefully guarded with [illegible] to prevent blowing off [illegible] [illegible] the fire [illegible] might.

SENATOR SLATER ON PROTECTION.

[illegible]

[illegible] of the United States.

The high wages claim then collapses the moment it is examined, and proves to be a sham. The American workingman derives no benefit from protection. On the other hand he is subjected to many burdens by means of it. The purchasing power of his wages, as regards all manufactured articles outside of the food list, is diminished at least fifty per cent by that iniquitous system. His clothing, his drugs, his bedding, his furniture, his tools, his books, his crockery and glassware, his kitchen stove, his pots and kettles, the clothing of his wife and children, everything in short which ministers to the comfort and convenience of his life is taxed from 40 to 100 per cent. It is only a short time ago that he was compelled to pay a like extortionate tax on the drug quinine which was to cure him of the ague and he still pays [illegible] on many of the drugs he buys. The farmers are in the same boat. They are bled at every pore by the tariff, while the grain they raise must seek a market under the most absolute freedom of trade and they can never hope to be built up at the expense of their fellow countrymen.

The sentiment of the Pacific coast, so far as it represents its interests, must be against protection. The farmers of California must perceive that they are being plundered right and left by that system and that it neither has offered nor can offer them any compensation. They can see the value of the nonsense that the protectionists talk about building up manufactures by a glance at the past. If protection was capable of building up manufactures on this coast, it certainly would have done so before this. But it has not done so and since it never can affect anything of the kind save by taking the money from one class and giving it to another, the farmers are not interested in the proposition. What they are interested in is the obvious fact that whereas they are obliged to sell their selling on free trade principles they are forced to do all their buying on protection principles. The consequence is that during all these years they have been handing over a very large percentage of their earnings to the manufacturers and have received no consideration. The farmer must sell his grain at the world's prices. He must buy all his supplies at fancy prices dictated by the manufacturer. Nor has he the poor satisfaction of knowing that what he pays goes to the support of the government, for it does nothing of the kind. It is one of the special beauties of the tariff that while it robs the people of say 60 per cent, only [illegible] reach the treasury.

But what can be said of a system which does not protect labor, which does not protect the producer, which does not [illegible] a small minority in the most arbitrary and [illegible] the earnings of the great majority of the nation? When protection was first introduced it was pretended that it was to be merely a temporary measure. Its advocates then [illegible] [illegible] Manufacturers have been [illegible] They have become greedy paupers. They have grown into the belief that they have a right to be sustained at the expense of the nation. They have amassed immense wealth but they are [illegible] They could afford to pay their employes 40 per cent higher wages, but they only [illegible] them as low as possible. [illegible] [illegible] when they are being imposed upon, and that they are [illegible] the tariff high taxes, who for twenty years have been levying blackmail upon them under the preposterous pretense of advancing their interests.

IRISH-AMERICAN "SUSPECTS."

New York Times

Our professional Irishmen and some of the injudicious abettors of their schemes are making desperate efforts to enlist the government of the United States among the agencies by which they seek to stay and destroy the power of the brutal Saxon oppressor. The powder can, the dynamite cartridge, the ship to bore muskets and other kindred arguments have been freely employed but in vain. The oppressor continues to oppress. Now, anybody who has studied Irish politics knows that the allegorical person called Uncle Sam is never so happy as when he has the British lion by the tail. He has been known to sling the animal across two continents, in fact, he finds his exercise in that way. He is therefore being appealed to by the Irish party to seize the odious beast again and shake him until certain American citizens said to be confined in noisome dungeons in Ireland are set at liberty. * * * The plain truth is that those men have suffered no wrong unless it is a wrong to deprive the felon of the liberty he abuses. They have been guilty of no vague political offense, but of the most open and dangerous violation of the penal laws of Great Britain. They took prominent and effective part in an organized conspiracy to overthrow the power of the crown in Ireland. They went about holding inflammatory public harangues and private appeals with the avowed object of promoting a breach of the peace. The violent passions they stirred up vented themselves in wayside assassinations, in killing and maiming cattle, in [illegible] and [illegible] unjust [illegible] in the destruction of crops and other property. They left themselves liable to arrest and prosecution under the penal laws and in case of such a just prosecution there would not have been [illegible] [illegible] the British ministry considered the condition of Ireland so desperate as to require some quicker process, a speedier and surer action than the common criminal laws. They procured the passage of the coercion act, under which the suspects could be arrested and imprisoned without the usual form of examination, commitment, speedy trial, and liability to delivery by habeas corpus. But there is nothing in the arrest of an American citizen under this act to invoke our protest and interference any more than in case of arrest under the ordinary law. Whether an American citizen in Ireland kills a man with his own hands or persuades another to do the killing, he deserves whatever punishment the law of the land may prescribe, and it is not for us to complain of the manner of his arrest. It may be arbitrary, but so long as it is made by public law and under a secret order it is to be presumed that the prisoner knew what risks he was running. McSweeney and his fellow suspects had the option of being peaceful American citizens sojourning in Ireland or lawbreaking agitators. They chose to be the latter and they were very properly put where they would do no harm. And an overwhelming majority of the American people share the belief of the British ministry that the best place for a man of whatever nationality who goes about inciting people to their neighbors and to disobey the laws is a [illegible] and [illegible] comfortable jail.

About a month since the question was brought more urgently before the British government. Lowell in obedience to instructions from Washington asked release of all Irish American suspects at [illegible] The British government never admitted nor understood the American government to claim it had a legal right to interfere. The government would resent such a claim if it was advanced. It is believed here that the American government expressly or tacitly admitted that American Irishmen in Ireland violating the law, became subject to the same penalty as Irishmen, but when the American government urged release of American suspects on the grounds of expediency the British government showed immediate readiness to listen to the various proposals. The British government finally agreed to release all who would promise to leave the country. If any Irish Americans remain in jail they remain because the land league wants them to remain there. Some suspects in obedience to the orders of the league refuse to go out of the open door. The Parnellites were bitterly disappointed that any Americans should have accepted the government's terms.

The general condition of Ireland convinces liberals and conservatives alike of the necessity of fresh measures. Even the radicals, though alleging the failure of the coercion act admit that more efficient coercion is indispensable.

A BRAZILIAN SLAVE'S FATE.

Whipped to Death by Order of his Master and Mistress.

Rio (Brazil) News

In a slaveholding country the right of punishing a slave is one of the unwritten laws. It is only when some exceptional case of cruelty becomes known that the popular indignation is roused and efforts are seemingly made to throw the protection of the law around a helpless, persecuted class. One of these instances of brutality recently occurred in the province of Parahyba and is related by a provincial journal as follows, the story being told by a resident of Souza in Dec. 4:

"On the 14th ult. (November) Dr. Francis Jose de Souza, residing on the Lavramento plantation, went to the house of Dr. Maria, the juiz de direito, and declared that having ordered some 260 lashes to be given on the 24th to his slave named Miguel, 56 years of age, the slave fell into some slight indisposition. He worked as usual, however, out on the 25th, being locked up in his sleeping room, chained and manacled because he was a runaway, he drank a great quantity of lye which he had filtered in the same room, and on the 26th, at 3 in the morning he died. The police of his district, being little skilled in examination, and being able to compromise him, he had come to ask these authorities to proceed to the examination. The judges at 10 o'clock on the following morning arrived there, finding the population in excitement. Experts being nominated by the juiz municipal and the corpse exposed in the presence of over a hundred persons, it was stripped. The body presented a most horrible aspect, bones, what swollen the skin was partially burned and separated from the body at the touch with the exception of the face, head, feet and hands, with large black bruises on the right side and ribs, deep wounds in various parts of the body and great water blisters. This was the anterior appearance. Turning the corpse it was seen with anguish that the whole region between the buttocks and the shoulder blades was one single deep sore, with furrows and cavities more or less deep. The people hurled reproaches upon Dr. Souza, who seemed the image of consternation, saying that the corpse should be opened for verifying the internal injury done by the lye which Miguel had drank. The proprietor cried that that was unnecessary and that the lashes and baths of boiling water were the cause of his death. The juiz municipal ordered the corpse to be opened, an operation which through a lack of professionals was done with more or less regularity. The stomach was intact and also the throat, only the posterior part of the liver, part of the lungs and kidneys were as though bruised. The tongue was intact from the middle to the root, but burned at the tip, which indicated an attempt to put lye in the mouth of the corpse! In the parts corresponding to the sides all the tissues were black and suffused. There had been a great internal hemorrhage.

"Delegado Felluto Jose Hurtado searched for and examined everything suspected in a case of punishment. There were found various iron manacles, chains, whips, fetters and an instrument consisting of an iron ring with a tongue on whose extremity was a large bell, which is used for putting on the necks of runaway slaves. The room in which Miguel died was worse than the dungeon of Taco, the difference being the greater from its being inhabitated by two and having two baskets of ashes, two satchels also full of ashes, gourds and other similar things. It exhaled an insufferable odor arising from clots of blood in various parts. The slaves, nine in number, were covered with scars produced by the lash, hot water, hot caldo and irons. The slave woman Lucia wore iron shackles, manacles, and the bell instrument, her body was covered with innumerable scars, old and fresh.

"The delegado sought to interrogate two slaves, but seeing that they were frightened there he decided to bring them all to the city. Miguel, besides the whipping of the 24th, to which he would inevitably have succumbed, suffered a greater one on the 14th applied by his master, and after his becoming wearied by another slave. To his wounds there were applied salt, onions and tobacco. The most horrible of all is that the wife of Dr. Souza is the principal author of all these perversities."

Eastern Freight Situation.

NEW YORK, April 9—The movement in the freight market is still very moderate and there is not much doing outside of shipments of pipe, iron, steel and such heavy goods, the movement in light freight being very moderate. The Schiehallion is ready and is ready for sea. The Patagonia will finish loading Monday. Rates are firm at 13 50@37 per ton for iron, etc., 10@25 per ft for measurement goods, oil 40c per case, whisky $4 50@2 60 per barrel, nails 35c@40c per keg, rosin at 1.25 per barrel, canned goods 20c per case and coal oil $8 per ton. Tonnage is in limited supply and held at full rates. A ship was taken in Van Vleck's line, but her name has not transpired.

Freights at Boston are moderately active and the Arcturus will not finish before the 15th. Rail freights from Boston are less active, and outside of usual shipments of paper, boots and shoes, etc., there is no noticeable change.

At Philadelphia the market is quiet. The Merom is in berth but not doing much as yet.

RESTORATION OF "THE MACHINE."

President Hayes issued an order to the effect that officials of the government should not accept municipal or local offices, and requiring them, moreover, to abstain from active participation in the direction of party affairs. Though the order was not consistently enforced, it was recognized by the country as the enunciation of a sound principle. The reason for it is apparent. Leadership of officeholders in politics and parties lowers the tone of party action and produces the large number of those abuses of the civil service of which the country has so often found reason to complain. It is the core of corruption in politics, the inspiration of unscrupulous methods in party management, the support of "bossism," the engine that drives "the machine." The utterances of President Garfield contained express words of disapproval of the practice. It was his known purpose to enforce, as far as possible, the principle set forth in the order issued by President Hayes. To realize another of the great changes brought about by the act of Guiteau, it is only necessary to take note of the letter just now written by Frank Hatton, first assistant postmaster general, who owes his advancement to that position to his slavish devotion to the Grant-Conkling machine. This letter revokes the order of President Hayes, reverses the policy of President Garfield, informs the office-holding rings that they are to be at full liberty to set up primaries, pack conventions, manipulate legislatures, and do whatever else a supposed regard for their own interests and the orders of the bosses direct, to the full extent of their power.

In accepting the nomination for the vice-presidency Gen. Arthur went out of his way to give encouragement to the stalwart bosses and their trained corps of personal servants in official places, by saying that, "By the acceptance of public office, whether high or low, one does not in my judgment escape any of his responsibilities as a citizen, or lose any of his rights as a citizen, and he should enjoy absolute liberty to think, speak and act in political matters according to his own will and conscience, provided only that he faithfully discharge all his official duties." Here, under a general statement of a general principle, expressly, but in a way to render it liable to misapplication, full license is given to the activity of officials in the domination and control of party action. Gen. Arthur when he wrote his letter of acceptance was severely censured and condemned for this utterance, by press and people. So many were incensed by it that he would have been defeated, had not his election been inseparably connected with that of Garfield. People could find satisfaction only in the reflection that they were not voting for Arthur for the presidency. And yet he is president, and the promises of the republican convention, on the conduct of the civil service and restriction of Chinese immigration are repudiated and cast to the winds. It was, indeed, the very [illegible] of his known difference with President Garfield on the matter touched in the letter accepting the vice presidency now reproduced by Hatton, that led to Garfield's murder.

Why the order made by President Hayes should stand, and why it should be enforced, is perfectly clear. The rule it enjoins lies at the very bottom of every proper effort to set party action free from the intrigue and tyranny of professional managers paid by the government, and to place the public service on a higher plane. What the boss and machine system is the country well knows. It organizes [illegible] all the means of reciprocal rapine; it makes every official the personal servant of the senator, representative or political boss; it marshals the officials of each state as a solid [illegible] under the command of the chief brigand and spoilsman, and forces them to a detestable service as price of holding their places. If an office holder is not sufficiently active, unscrupulous or servile, or if he refuses the degrading personal service which the state boss requires for the advancement of his own interests, then his removal, at the instance of the boss, [illegible] and appoints one who may be depended on for the required service. Conventions are thus controlled, nominations dictated, and legislatures secured to maintain this foul machine government; and then Arthur himself, as a supporter and creature of this system, was put into the third-term conspiracy, [illegible] in the national convention by [illegible] the machine over the will of the people of New York, and was one of the [illegible] who voted for Grant from first to last, against the [illegible] wishes of four-fifths of the whole people of the country. Perhaps [illegible] grows out of the [illegible] that it has made him all he is; but this is simply one of the incidents, not a calculable result. Of [illegible] there will be active [illegible] class of office-holders during the next two years to work up [illegible] for his nomination. Hatton's order is a warrant for it. But the sentiment of the party is overwhelmingly against these methods, whether employed in the interest of one man or another. The man who allows [illegible] may get to the presidency in a roundabout way, but he will never succeed in a direct endeavor to reach it.

WANTED, "A MENIAL CLASS."

Henry Ward Beecher, in a recent sermon, denounced in unmeasured terms the bill to restrict Chinese immigration. It may be supposed that he placed his strongest objection on the broad ground of "equality of human rights and the brotherhood of man." He did nothing of the kind. He placed it, in effect, on the opposite principle. "In a score of years," said he, "we shall have no race that will be willing to do what we call menial work. It is for a people that will do this that this age and continent are wanting." It was a "fool congress" that passed the bill, and they were "fools" who voted for it. We have those who are anxious for Chinese immigration to continue, because they believe they see in it a providential method to convert the heathen and bring them to salvation. For this view it is possible to entertain respect. But of those who place their desire for a Chinese population in America on the basis of cold calculation of the advantages to be secured by the wealthy classes from the presence of "a menial race"—a race that will accept without protest the condition of inferiority and servitude, it is not possible to speak with patient or respectful consideration.

But Beecher in these words expressed bluntly a thing that finds lodgment in many minds. He voiced courageously one phase of the sentiment that opposes the Chinese bill. Few would have uttered it so outspokenly; and yet the fact is that the country has an element of pinchbeck aristocracy, based on upstart wealth, which wants a menial class to serve it, a class which will yield a ready and slavish obedience, be content with a pittance of pay, and never "talk back." Here is the source of that great need and hunger which only such a people as the Chinese can satisfy. It comes from those who, in their arrogance and selfishness, want, substantially, the authority of masters over slaves.

A judicious writer says there is little doubt that the servant girl difficulty, so-called, "springs mainly from the degradation of the position of servants in the household. Those who have been best served are not those who have selected the most abject and servile applicants and ruled them with a rod of iron, but those who first demanded self-respect in a servant, and then made it possible for one in that position to retain it. It would be rash to say that the full solution of the servant girl problem lies in a less contemptuous spirit in the parlor and more humility in the kitchen; or that a failure in the former is always the occasion of trouble in the latter. But that there is a relation of cause and effect between the two is not to be denied; and it is equally clear that the difficulty which besets the question and sends up a wail of despair from the households of every city in the land has kept pace with the growth of the idea that one who performs the so called menial duties must sink to the level of a menial class. It would seem from this view of the situation to be eminently the part of religion as well as of true Americanism to urge moderation on both sides; to secure the careful and cheerful performance of duty by encouraging self-respect rather than by the introduction of a race who might be treated as slaves with impunity; and break down the barriers of classes rather than to fix a permanent caste."

INDEPENDENCE IN GEORGIA.

Down in Georgia there is growing a great disgust for the extreme partisan rule which that state has suffered for several years. The democratic managers have assumed they were the democratic party. So offensive has their management become that all the elements—the republican included—of opposition to the bourbons of Georgia have united in a call for a state convention to be held in June next, to nominate a ticket for state officers. The address issued to the people of the state contains the following sample declaration of principles: "We believe that it is no longer patriotic to be partisan, but that, as the two parties now powerful in the country are at issue on no governmental principles, it is wise for the people, who aspire to fraternal relations coexistent with the country, to bury sectional strife and to elevate politics to the consideration of those material questions in which the whole country is vitally interested, and to this end it is especial wisdom for our immediate people to select political agencies competent by liberality on principle to offer such a policy to the entire people." Several democratic journals have joined in this war upon the bourbons, and have brought out the name of the Hon. Alexander H. Stephens as their candidate for governor upon the independent ticket to be nominated. Mr. Stephens has a very strong hold on the affections of the Georgia voters, and if he should be nominated, as now seems probable, the chances for his retirement to private life would be very poor.

The financial history of the Suez canal presents a record which may have significance in connection with the proposed construction of the canal at Panama. By the original contract the Suez canal company was to construct the canal and pay to Egypt 15 per cent. of the profits, and after ninety-nine years hand the whole thing over to the Egyptian government in good condition. The viceroy made only one stipulation, and that was that four-fifths of the laborers should be natives; he agreeing to furnish them, and the company to pay them. The first concession was made in 1854, and the subscriptions were opened in 1858, but it was found impossible to get the $40,000,000 required. They then persuaded the khedive to take 177,662 shares of the original 400,000, and they borrowed of him $500,000. The compulsory-labor system, after it had killed off 20,000 men, was discontinued at the demand of England, and then a dispute arose between the khedive and the company, which was ended by Napoleon, who compelled the khedive to pay the company $17,000,000. Upon other claims the khedive paid $6,000,000 more. When the canal was completed, the figures stood about as follows: The khedive had paid interest on his shares, $1,300,000; on the award of Napoleon, $17,000,000; on subsequent claims, $6,000,000, and is owing $27,000,000. In other words, he has paid, or is to pay, $51,300,000. The original capital was $40,000,000; actual cost, $91,300,000. From this it will be seen that De Lesseps was out $51,000,000 in his calculations. The khedive lost 20,000 men and bankrupted himself. If the calculations of De Lesseps on the Panama canal are as far out of the way there will be a legacy of indebtedness for unfortunates amounting perhaps to $200,000,000.

Judge Kelley of Pennsylvania, believes that the contents of the National Museum and other repositories at Washington in which collections are preserved, should be used for the benefit of those who desire to learn the truths which they illustrate. He has introduced a bill providing that annual courses of lectures shall be delivered in that city upon mining and metallurgy, applied chemistry, agriculture and horticulture, veterinary science, mechanical engineering, fish culture, entomology, microscopy, electricity, forestry, architecture, navigation and ship building, meteorology, botany, anatomy and physiology, and geology and mineralogy. The lecturers are to be employed by a board of managers consisting of the secretary of the Smithsonian Institution, the superintendent of the National Experimental garden at the agricultural department, the chief of the bureau of education, the director of the Army Medical Museum, the director of the mint, the astronomer at the naval observatory, and one of the chief examiners of the patent office. These lectures are to be given in order that there shall be provided the best instruction in the arts and sciences which especially relate to the development of the material resources of the country and the increase of the comforts and conveniences of life among the people. No fees are to be charged. The managers are to make an annual report to the president of work done and money expended. The lecture courses are to begin in November and continue until the 1st of May.

Religious societies in the east are now calling upon the president to appoint a mixed denominational commission to execute the anti-polygamy bill. When the reformed system of Indian agencies was adopted, with a provision for the selection of agents from various religious denominations, there was some satisfaction over the prospect of the Christianization of the Indians. How far that expectation has been realized it is not necessary to inquire. But it would be manifestly absurd, after congress has provided for the political personnel of the Utah commission, to draw other lines which shall define the denominal preferences of the commissioners. What is wanted now in Utah is wisdom, coolness, and a thorough familiarity with administrative government. Missionaries must take their chances outside of governmental appointment.

Oscar Wilde, traveling from eastern cities, placated the egotism of the bounding west by proclaiming it in the cattle yards of Chicago, telling it in the cereal exchanges of St. Louis, and whispering it confidentially in the lager-beer vaults of Milwaukee, that "the western cities are more distinctively American than the eastern ones, and that they have created a civilization by themselves and for themselves," while Boston, New York and Philadelphia are only "new repetitions of European thought." After this compliment it would not be strange if Chicago adopted the leonine sunflower as the city coat-of-arms; Milwaukee placed a lily brand on her beer kegs, and knee-breeches, black silk stockings, crimson neck-ties and long-tailed boncoats became the fashionable opera rig in St. Louis.

Newspapers in several European capitals are discussing their figures of mortality, and none of them with satisfaction, save the slight satisfaction which one or two of them find in being not so badly off as their neighbors. Statistics for London, Paris and Madrid show that London is the healthfullest and Madrid the least healthful of these three. The annual death rate in Paris is 25 in 1000; in London 21.6 in 1000. In Madrid the number of deaths over births is so great that the city, if it had no immigration, would be depopulated in 35 years.

Last year the United States exported 99 locomotives, of which 45 went to Mexico, the West Indies and South America, the trade with which country is almost entirely in the hands of the English, and 49 went to British colonies—19 to British North America and 30 to Australia—and in the last six years we have exported $4,000,000 worth of locomotives.

Of 76 members of the United States senate 57 are lawyers, and of 293 members of the house 195 are lawyers. It is practice in public speaking, rather than actual talents for business, that carries so many lawyers into congress.

THE FINE ART.

New Way to Learn How to Dance.

Grand Exhibition

AT

MASONIC HALL,

Wednesday, April 12.

Afternoon at 2 O'clock. Evening at 8:30

Exhibition of Modern Society Round Dances, Viz:

"NEW YORK GLIDE,"
"THE SOCIETY"
"RAQUETTE."

I WOULD MOST RESPECTFULLY ANNOUNCE to the ladies and gentlemen of Portland and vicinity, that I closed my season in San Francisco March 20th, for the purpose of paying a visit to this city, to introduce my system and organize classes for a series of EIGHT class lessons. My system is quick in conception, thorough and reliable.

I WILL GUARANTEE

That EVERYONE who takes the FIRST lesson will understand thoroughly the drift of my CHART THEORY. Furthermore,

I WILL GUARANTEE

That everyone who takes the FIRST lessons will at the expiration of the season, understand EVERY SINGLE STEP in the "Glide Waltz." Furthermore,

I WILL GUARANTEE

To teach more in ONE LESSON than any other professional can possibly do in EIGHT LESSONS. To verify my statement I will give one lesson Free of Charge to the ladies, gentlemen and children of Portland on the afternoon and evening of my exhibition to satisfy them that my theory will bear the closest investigation.

The hall will be canvassed and fifty to twenty five charts laid. Each lady and gentleman will have separate charts. Each one moves alike, and in less than thirty minutes from the time they begin music will be applied to the count, and within two hours each pupil will be moving over the charts at regular waltz time.

All ladies and children and parents of children interested in knowing how to dance are requested to attend the exhibitions.

Tickets of admission to the hall can be obtained at the store of D. W. Prentice & Co. 107 First street, on and after Thursday, April 6th, to the day of the exhibition, free of charge, between 11 and 12 A. M. and 3 and 5 and 7 and 8 P. M.

Circulars giving terms and particulars can be obtained at Prentice's.

Frazee's books for ladies and gentlemen illustrating his system, can be seen at Prentice's.

GOOD FOR SORE EYES.

THIS IS TO CERTIFY THAT IN JUNE, 1881, I had acute inflammation in my eyes, and in spite of all the surgical aid I received in Oregon my eyes continued to get worse, until at length I became helplessly blind. In August I went to San Francisco and was under the treatment of two oculists of considerable repute. One was a professor of diseases of the eye, and I remained under his care one month, but continuing to get worse, I changed to another so-called specialist, to find I was only jumping out of the frying-pan into the fire. I next consulted Dr. Pardee, 621 Clay street, San Francisco. His treatment relieved me from the very first, and I continued to improve day by day, until I could see to read as well as any one. I found his treatment both simple and mild, different from any and all other treatments I had received. My residence is in Astoria, Oregon. Insert this card at my own expense out of pure gratitude to Dr. Pardee and without his knowledge, to let any similarly afflicted know where to go to get their eyes cured, as I have been through the mill and speak from a sad experience. m1d3w HENRY HARRISON.

CITY.

For Hotel Arrivals see fourth page.

WITHIN THE IMMIGRANTS' BUREAU.—Inquiries at the bureau of immigration for Oregon and Washington elicit the fact that about [illegible] per cent. of the white steerage passengers who arrived within the last month are actual settlers. Each family brings from $500 to $1500 in cash, and more than half of them bring their household goods. From one-fourth to one-third of the arrivals go to the Umpqua and Rogue river valleys, being induced thither by the immediate prospect of a railroad, while the remainder are about equally divided between eastern Oregon, the Walla Walla valley, the Palouse region, and the district lying east of the Northern Pacific railroad and the Columbia river. A considerable number have also gone to the Yakima and neighboring valleys, and a few to the Clearwater country. The immigrants are principally from California, Kansas, Nebraska, Missouri, Illinois, Michigan and Texas, proportionately in the order named. The bureau receives and answers daily an average of 45 letters from intending settlers, asking for information about lands.

NEARLY TO SNAKE RIVER.—The Oxford Enterprise of March 30 says: Snow is all gone around American Falls, and track-laying on the Oregon Short Line is proceeding from there to west. There is about twenty miles of track now laid, and the track men are laying about three-quarters of a mile per day. Contractor Patterson has resumed work on his grade, and has about five miles of grade to finish yet. The bridge at the falls is completed, except the iron span, which is all ready to put up. The engineers are at work west of Snake river, and dirt will soon begin to fly in the direction of Wood river.

ALLEGED BREACH OF CONTRACT.—Suit was yesterday begun in the state circuit court by Messrs. Jas. B. Leahy and P. J. Martin against Thomas Martin, to recover $1500 claimed to be due them from him. The plaintiffs allege that Thomas Martin gave them the right to sell a farm of 160 acres, situated on the Vancouver road, and that he made a written agreement to give them whatever they could get over $15,000 by the sale, for their fees. The place was sold by the plaintiffs for $16,500, and now Martin refuses to pay them the remaining $1500.

STRAIGHTENING STREETS.—City Surveyor Taylor is engaged in preparing surveys for the change in Fifth street at its junction with A by cutting off the awkward angles now standing out into the street on the west side of Fifth street and North side of A. The proposition is to run the west line of Fifth street in a straight line until it shall come out into Fifth near B. This will necessitate the moving back of three houses on Fifth between A and B. A similar angle is presented at the same corner of A and Sixth.

WANT A NEW TRIAL.—A writ of appeal in the case of S. H. Lee et al, against the Multnomah County Grangers' Association, was yesterday filed in the county clerk's office. It seems that Lee brought suit either against Messrs. Hinton and Ewing for money due him from the association, or against the association for money due from Messrs. Hinton and Ewing. At any rate Hinton and Ewing have filed the writ of appeal. The amount in question is $1000.

FAST TOWING.—The American ship Reporter, Captain Ward, drawing 21 feet, left Portland at 6 o'clock Saturday morning in tow of the Ocklahama, and arrived at Astoria the same day at 5 P. M.; time, 11 hours. The San Stephano, drawing 20 feet, 9 inches, in tow of the E. N. Cooke, left at 6 o'clock yesterday morning and arrived down at 6:30 P. M.; time, 12 hours and 30 minutes.

FREE FIGHT.—James Fitzgerald, Frank Conner and James Morey last night engaged in a general rough and tumble fight near the corner of First and Oak streets. Policemen Martin, Dobbins and Barton, [illegible] them in and they were unable to give bail. The cause of the row seemed to be an overdose of bad whisky.

THE "STATE'S" CARGO.—The State of California, which arrived yesterday afternoon, brought 117 cabin passengers, 408 in steerage and 1457 tons freight, 89 tons having been discharged at Astoria. Her mail consisted of 127 canvas bags, 5 locked pouches, 7 registered pouches and 4 cases.

COURT IN COLUMBIA COUNTY.—Judge Stott, District Attorney Caples and several lawyers left yesterday morning for St. Helens, where they will hold court this week. Among the cases to be tried is that of J. H. Stoughton, the old man charged with murder, committed more than a year ago.

FOR THE UPPER COLUMBIA.—The steamer John Gates, which left Celilo last night for Priests' Rapids, had 80 tons of freight, and will take 20 passengers at Ainsworth Wednesday morning. She will leave on her return trip Friday with 200 tons of wheat, other grain and provisions.

CURRY WINS.—The contest at glass ball shooting between W. L. Curry and Dan. K. Howe for $50 a side, 100 balls at 21 yards, at South Portland yesterday, resulted in favor of Curry, he breaking 95 balls to his opponent 92. The match was witnessed by a large number of spectators.

BASE BALL.—The first game of base ball of the season was played Sunday between the "Couches" and "Slabtowns," at the grounds in North Portland, the score standing 12 to 9, in favor of the former. The return game will be played shortly.

LEG BROKEN.—A young man named Carmichael, while putting rollers under a log at the dry dock below Albina, pulled the log upon his leg, breaking it a little above the ankle. The fracture was reduced by Drs. Davis and Rafferty.

THE STEAMERS.—The State crossed in at 8 yesterday morning, left for Portland at 9:25, and reached here at 5 P. M. The Oregon crossed out at 5:30 P. M.

THE GAME LAW.

LEBANON, April 10.

To THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

"Is there a provision in the law allowing any and all persons to kill any kind of birds at any and all times of the year for their own use? I understand that law officers here say there is such a clause in the game law, and persons are shooting grouse here every day.

By answering this you will oblige a subscriber to THE OREGONIAN for the past 20 years.

B. F. BLODGETT.

[There is such a clause in the game law.]

From J. M. [illegible] and [illegible] White, [illegible], referred to committee [illegible].

[illegible] COMMITTEES.

In the matter of paying travelling expenses of [illegible], committee reported that [illegible] report adopted.

Special committee appointed to look up facts [illegible] gave [illegible] proposed [illegible] report [illegible] an unseaworthy craft, [illegible] that the board telegraph to the [illegible] at Washington notifying them of [illegible] facts, and [illegible] them not to give the [illegible]. Report adopted and a copy [illegible] the postmaster general, [illegible] telegraphed.

Committee to look [illegible] detention of ship [illegible] that they had [illegible] for the board's purpose; report [illegible].

A resolution recommending Prof. White's [illegible] was unanimously adopted.

Mr. [illegible] plans for improving Columbia river bar, referred to committee on navigation.

[illegible] offered the following:

WHEREAS, It is essential for the development of the domestic and foreign direct import trade of Oregon and Washington territory that the city of Portland, [illegible] without waiting for congressional assistance, [illegible] steps to improve the Willamette and Columbia rivers to the sea, for which authority is required from the state legislature to borrow the necessary money, and

WHEREAS, We believe such authority will certainly be granted next September,

Resolved, That we anticipate such legislation, by at once making the necessary arrangements in conjunction with the city council, to devise the best [illegible] to make the required river improvements; that the council be respectfully asked to have surveys, soundings and plans made of the rivers from Portland to the sea, under the auspices of the United States [illegible] other competent surveyor, in order that the work may be contracted for and proceeded with immediately upon the receipt of the requisite legislative authority; further,

Resolved, That the navigation committee wait upon the city council and request its cooperation and from time to time co-operate with it in carrying these resolutions into effect.

Referred to Messrs. D. P. Thompson, J. F. Clark, and C. H. Dodd, to act upon them as a committee.

BRIEF MENTION.

Comedy season begins to-night.

The city delinquent tax list is now in the hands of Chief of Police Lappeus.

James Wadsworth, formerly of Corvallis, died at Walla Walla Friday evening.

Mrs. Bissell of San Francisco has removed to 311 Stockton street, in that city.

Prof. Willis, with feats of ledgerdemain and splendid gifts, at Turn Halle this evening.

Joseph King, second assistant engineer of the fire department, while lowering the flag staff of the steamer Alice yesterday had his right hand severely bruised.

Mr. J. F. LaMalfa, advertising agent of the N. Y., L. E. & W. (Erie) railroad, starts to-morrow morning on an extended tour of Eastern Oregon and Washington.

Mr. Will. W. Randall, of San Francisco, editor of the Dramatic Brevities, one of our brightest theatrical exchanges, is in the city as manager of the Kennedy & Colton Comedy Company.

"Isn't it lovely! Isn't it beautiful! Oh! how superb!" were the exclamations at Mellis Bros. & Co's. opening last night. Upon request of those present, pleading in behalf of their absent friends, who were unable to attend and admire and enjoy the beautiful spring exhibition, the opening will continue up to Thursday evening next.

ITEMS FROM YAKIMA.

[FROM THE OREGONIAN'S LOCAL CORRESPONDENT.]

YAKIMA CITY, April 8.

While out riding last Sunday Mr. H. H. Keene had his leg badly hurt by his horse falling on him. No bones were broken, but the limb is so seriously bruised that he will be confined to his room for some time.

On Thursday the sheriff brought down from Cottage Glen farm a band of mules for the purpose of disposing of them at sheriff sale, to satisfy a judgment in favor of Moses N. Adams vs. the N. P. R. R. Co. These animals belong to the several Northern Pacific surveying parties, and were left in charge of Polly & Imbrie for the winter. On account of some irregularity in the proceedings, the sale was postponed until Thursday, April 13.

Since the burning of the court house on the morning of March 31st, everything seems to be in an unsettled state. The loss of all the records will of course inconvenience almost every one in the county, and it will occasion considerable individual expense in the way of re-establishing the chains of titles. The financial loss to Yakima county itself is merely a nominal sum. We at first feared that it would depreciate our county scrip, which a year ago was below fifty cents on the dollar and lately has been selling readily for eighty and in some instances at ninety, but fortunately the registration of county orders was saved and also the accounts of the several officers with the county, so there is no reason why our scrip should not be worth as much to-day as it was before the fire and I predict that in one year from to-day it will be selling at par.

One night last week some of the Indians of the Yakima reservation living near the Satas stage station, between here and The Dalles, concluded they would take the station. Mr. Lillie is the proprietor of the station, and keeps a small trading post by the permission of the government for the accommodation of the Indians on the reserve. The inmates were startled by about ten drunken Indians breaking into the store and declaring their intention to help themselves. The two stages meet there about midnight and the drivers and passengers took a hand. The Indians were fired at a few times, one shot grazing a Siwash scalp, but as the range was too short weapons were dropped and a regular Bellicuff battle ensued, in which the Siwashes came out second best. Two of them were laid out for stiffs, but finally recovered. Some more of them were tied hand and foot, and those who were able to navigate concluded that discretion was the better part of valor and fled. The agent was notified of the affair, but whether he has taken any steps in the matter or not I am not informed. The Indians are in the habit of congregating at different points on the reserve for the purpose of having their "pum-pum" dances and gambling, and on these occasions they manage to obtain enough whisky to have a "Skookum drunk."

GREAT GLOVE FACTORY.

New Industry Proposed for the Pacific Coast—A Portlander Interested in the Enterprise.

Last month the well known glove manufacturing house of Mills, [illegible] & Co., of San Francisco dissolved partnership, Mr. Mills retiring from it and Mr. Phil. Lippitt of this city entering the firm. The new firm will be known as Lippitt, [illegible] & Co., and their [illegible] street. Heretofore the manufacturing department has been conducted [illegible] in San Francisco and in Gloversville, N. Y., [illegible] hands being employed at the latter, and one hundred and fifty at the former place. At an early date the new firm will consolidate the manufacturing departments in San Francisco and employ about four hundred persons in the workshop and tannery. [illegible] necessary on account of the growing trade of the firm, whose products [illegible] greater popularity. First, [illegible] excellent material used; second, the variety of styles manufactured; and third, their adaptability to the wants of Pacific coast purchasers. Gloves manufactured at Gloversville for the general trade of the country, as experience has proven, are not all [illegible] suited to the demands of far western trade, and the new firm proposes to remedy all defects [illegible] such articles what [illegible] requires. Last year they [illegible] 100,000 [illegible] making 272 [illegible] pairs of gloves. Many of the skins had to be bought of tanners, but in future the firm will do all their own tanning, [illegible] such leather as they require and [illegible] them from almost every part of [illegible]. They will manufacture [illegible] seal, dog, [illegible] and kid, everything [illegible]. They believe that the establishment of a factory will justify the investment. [illegible] on their facilities for turning out gloves and selling them at lower prices than eastern manufacturers.

Mr. Lippitt for many years of the firm of [illegible] Bros. & Co., is well known to the trade of Oregon and Washington [illegible] his [illegible] as reliable, thorough business man. He will leave for San Francisco [illegible] to enter on the new glove enterprise.

ITEMS FROM LAKE COUNTY.

[FROM THE OREGONIAN'S LOCAL CORRESPONDENT.]

LAKEVIEW, April 1.

The excitement over the recent murders in this county has subsided.

The backbone of winter is broken, the snow and ice is fast disappearing, and a plenty of water fowl are flocking into our lakes. The loss of those lakes is not yet known [illegible].

The losses of stock were light during the past winter. About $100,000 worth of cattle have changed ownership within the last two months. They are owned principally by a few men.

LINKVILLE, April 5.

Linkville has organized a library association with John Gotbro [illegible] as librarian.

H. F. Phillips, proprietor of the Ashland and Linkville stage line, has been in town several days on business.

Cattle buyers are plenty and cattle are in good demand. Applegate Bros. have refused $20 per head for their entire band of 2000.

Capt. O. H. Burton, commanding officer, and Sikes Worden, post trader of Fort Klamath, are visiting Linkville and are being entertained by their friends.

The republican county convention met in Lakeview on Saturday, April 1, and nominated the following ticket: Representative, J. H. Clayton, of Lakeview; sheriff, R. A. Emmitt, of Plevna; clerk, L. G. Ross, of Lakeview; commissioners, W. S. Moore of Linkville, H. G. Chrisman of Silver Lake; school superintendent, Geo. Hayes, of Summer lake; assessor, J. H. Clark, of Sprague river; treasurer, J. H. Hoffman, of Lakeview; surveyor C. H. Dyar, of Linkville. Delegates to the state convention, C. S. Moore and J. H. Evans.

DOUGLAS COUNTY REPUBLICANS

Condemn the Veto of the Anti-Chinese Bill.

[FROM THE OREGONIAN'S LOCAL CORRESPONDENT.]

ROSEBURG, April 10.

At the republican primary meeting of Deer Creek precinct held at Roseburg on the 8th inst., Hon. Binger Herman introduced the following resolutions which were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, By the republicans of Deer Creek precinct, in primary meeting assembled.

That we learn with profound regret of the veto of the anti-Chinese bill by Chester A. Arthur, the acting president of the United States, so much in opposition to the well known views of the republican administration of the late lamented President Garfield; and

Resolved, That the republican party has ever shown itself to be the friend and protector of the industrial interests of the nation, and the trusty advocate of the poor man, and

Resolved, That the said veto meets with our unqualified disapproval, and we denounce it as unwise and condemn the policy which prompted it, and

Resolved, That we hereby express our most sincere commendation to all the representatives in congress from the Pacific coast, and especially to our energetic representative, Hon. M. C. George, for their untiring advocacy of the Chinese bill, and their firm stand in representing the unanimous feeling of the republicans of this coast and state.

POLK COUNTY REPUBLICAN TICKET.

The republicans of Polk county on Saturday last nominated the following ticket:

Representatives—F. A. Patterson, Warren Truitt, John Rawley.
Judge—Isaac Smith.
Clerk—Roswell Shelly.
Sheriff—Hardy Holman.
Treasurer—Chas. Hubbard.
Assessor—N. Harwood.
Commissioners—L. L. Hannum, Scott Riggs.
School Superintendent—Frank Rigler.
Surveyor—W. P. Wright.
Coroner—Dr. Cole.
Delegates to state convention—J. D. Lee, S. D. Gibson, O. G. Sturtleff, W. P. Connoway, A. J. Richardson, R. F. Wells.

DR. TUTT, OF NEW YORK,

The proprietor of Tutt's Liver Pills, unlike most of those who come before the public in this light, is not an empiric, but a physician of long practice and high standing in his profession. He was for many years a professor in a well known medical college, and also the principal of the largest drug establishment in the south. These facts indicate thorough medical knowledge, wide professional experience and chemical skill. The country is so full of quacks defrauding the public with worthless nostrums, that it gives us pleasure to notice the advent of a skillful and scientific physician into this field.

Dr. Tutt's Pills we believe to be the best specific yet offered to the public. They have all the heroic virtues of calomel without any of the evil influences of that mineral. It is especially in the south and west, where malarial diseases are common, that the reputation of these pills is most widely acknowledged. In these sections many physicians discard the prejudice of the profession against proprietary medicines, and use Tutt's Pills in their practice. Once they gain an admission into a household they keep a firm hold and are ranked as a standard medicine.

The woman who hesitates is lost, but the man who don't take time by the forelock and buy one of Uncle Myers' stem winders (warranted for two years) is ruined.

Do not despair, young man, if your engagement is broken, a reconciliation can take place by buying your girl an elegant diamond ring at Uncle Myers' for $75 worth $125, at 161 First street.

Young lady in navy blue watered silk who bowed to the young man sitting in the right hand pew is requested to buy that elegant pair of bracelets at Uncle Myers', 161 First st., corner of Yamhill.

Abell is doing all he possibly can in photographic work, an evidence of his popularity. His latest prints are much admired by those who have seen them. Take a sitting to-day.

W. SCHEFFLER'S PURE WINES AND BRANDY.

It is universally conceded that Wm. Scheffler's St. Helena (Cal.) Sherry, Port, Amber, Riesling and Claret wines, as also his vacuum distilled pure Grape Brandy are really superior to other manufactures, not excepting that imported, the adulteration and impurities of which is now generally understood. Mr. Scheffler's goods are popularly known all over the Pacific coast. Eight-tenths of all the druggists in California, Oregon and Washington territory have adopted his goods, discarding the imported. Ask your druggist here in Portland, East Portland, or in any town in this northwest, and you will be quite sure to obtain it, as you will at most of the first-class hotels and bars. Mr. Scheffler's Wines and Sanitary Brandy have been steadily growing into favor until they are known well in almost every household as a medicine, if not otherwise. Mr. Scheffler's process of distilling in a vacuum is his own patent process, which relieves his brandy of the fusil oil, making it really pure, sanitary and healthful.

A TRIPLE TRAGEDY.

Three Chinese Miners Murdered, Robbed and their Cabin Burned.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

LEWISTON, I. T., April [illegible]. A triple murder, robbery and arson occurred at Canoe creek, Nez Perce county, Idaho, on the [illegible] inst. The discovery was made on the [illegible]. Three Chinamen were [illegible] mining at a remote place on the creek and were known to have in their possession about $[illegible] in dust. On the 5th the cabin was found burned with the charred remains of two of the Chinamen. In the claim was found the body of the third, shot through the head and his [illegible] from ear to ear, and with his mining [illegible] him, [illegible] and everything indicating that he was killed while engaged at work. The supposition is that the two in the cabin were first killed and then the one in the claim, after which the villain returned and robbed the cabin and then set fire to it. The body on the claim was buried in the snow. A young white man in the neighborhood has exhibited considerable gold dust, evidently such as was taken from the claim, and there also was found upon him a pair of boots belonging to one of the murdered men. He has since been arrested. The remains of the murdered men were brought to Lewiston this evening and a post mortem will be held [illegible] found in the claim to-day. The [illegible] will also be taken from the head, and it is hoped [illegible] may be found there from to further identify the murderer. The name of the arrested man is [illegible], a young man of unenviable reputation.

ITEMS FROM DAYTON, W. T.

[FROM THE OREGONIAN'S LOCAL CORRESPONDENT.]

DAYTON, W. T., April [illegible]

Frost on the 5th and 6th hurt crops.

A steam fire engine will be ordered for this city.

Our late conflagration was undoubtedly the work of an incendiary.

In spite the long winter and late spring a greater acreage of wheat will be raised here than ever before.

A council of the I. O. O. F., with twenty-four charter members, was organized here on the 6th by I. E. Cohen, D. G. C.

Several wooden buildings and one brick are already in course of construction on the burned site. Several more bricks will be built.

The Dayton News, having been burned out, has suspended publication, and in their valedictory the editors call for a Democratic "organist."

Col. D. B. Bush, J. W. G. Coffran, C. P. Ferry, Geo. Woodward, S. B. Riggen, M. Crocker and Larry Boyd have been here this week adjusting the losses by the late fire. Three blocks were burned. Total loss about $77,000; insurance about $30,000 in thirty companies. The adjustments have been satisfactory generally.

NOT FROM MARION.

SALEM, April 10.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Your correspondent, "Citizen," awards Secretary Earhart to Marion county. We should be glad to be able to claim him as a citizen of our county, but he is simply a sojourner here. TUESDAY MORNING, APRIL 11, 1882.

LONGFELLOW'S LAST PUBLISHED POEM.

The last published work of the poet Longfellow was printed in The Century, entitled "Hermes Trismegistus." It is founded on the following legend taken from Iamblicus:

As Seleucus narrates, Hermes describes the principles that rank as wholes in two myriads of books; or, as we are informed by Manetho, he perfectly unfolded these principles in three myriads six thousand five hundred and twenty-five volumes. * * * * * Our ancestors dedicated the inventions of their wisdom to the deity, inscribing all their own writings with the name of Hermes.

Still through Egypt's desert places
Flows the lordly Nile,
From its banks the great stone faces
Gaze with patient smile;
Still the pyramids imperious
Pierce the cloudless skies,
And the Sphinx stares with mysterious,
Solemn, stony eyes.

But where are the old Egyptian
Demi-gods and kings?
Nothing left but an inscription
Graven on stones and rings.
Where are Helius and Hephæstus,
Gods of eldest eld?
Where is Hermes Trismegistus,
Who their secrets held?

Where are now the many hundred
Thousands books he wrote?
By the Thaumaturgists plundered,
Lost in lands remote;
In oblivion sunk forever,
As when o'er the land,
Blows a storm-wind, in the river
Sinks the scattered sand.

Something unsubstantial, ghostly
Seems this Theurgist,
In deep meditation mostly
Wrapped, as in a mist.
Vague, phantasmal, and unreal
To our thoughts he seems
Walking a world ideal,
In a land of dreams.

Was he one, or many, merging
Name and fame in one,
Like a stream, to which converging
Many streamlets run!
Till, with gathered power proceeding,
Ampler sweep it takes,
Downward the sweeping waters leading
From unnumbered lakes.

By the Nile I see him wandering,
Pausing now and then,
On the mystic union pondering
Between gods and men;
Half believing, wholly feeling,
With supreme delight,
How the gods, themselves concealing,
Lift men to their height.

Or in Thebes, the hundred-gated,
In the thoroughfare
Breathing, as if consecrated,
A diviner air;
And amid discordant noises,
In the jostling throng,
Hearing far celestial voices
Of Olympian song.

Who shall call his dreams fallacious,
Who has searched or sought
All the unexplored and spacious
Universe of thought?
Who, in his own skill confiding,
Shall with rule and line
Mark the border-line dividing
Human and divine?

Trismegistus! three times greatest!
How thy name sublime
Has descended to this latest
Progeny of time!
Happy they whose written pages
Perish with their lives,
If amid the crumbling ages
Still their name survives!

Thine, O priest of Egypt, lately
Found I in the vast,
Weed-encumbered, sombre, stately
Graveyard of the past;
And a presence moved before me
On that gloomy shore,
As a waft of wind, that o'er me
Breathed, and was no more.

PERSONS AND THINGS.

Dr. Lewis, a Chicago opponent of vaccination, has died of smallpox.

Ex-Governor Tilden's name heads a long list of subscribers to the Garfield Memorial Hospital fund.

Mr. Beecher says he thinks no more of death than he does of lying on his right side or his left side.

A convention of prohibitionists has been called to meet in Kentucky next month. It is not known from what state the delegates are expected.

Dr. Tanner having shown the folly of eating, is now investigating against drinking. The doctor was wise enough to attempt but one thing at a time.

The [illegible] worship, large bodies of [illegible] are equally [illegible] make a distinction [illegible]

A Dublin newspaper contained the following: [illegible]

William [illegible] (N. C.) colored [illegible] when emancipated [illegible] for a farm he bought of [illegible] the other day.

Mr. [illegible] "Poor Mrs. [illegible] to a warmer climate." [illegible] "She has gone! Mrs. [illegible] still alive."

A young widow was asked why she was going to [illegible] the death of her first husband [illegible] to prevent [illegible] on account of dear Tom."

"What, you got that girl's picture, Brown? You remember you said you were bound to have it?" "Well, not exactly," replied Brown; "I asked her for it, and she gave me her negative."

It is said that Joseph Cook was mad because the Hindoos didn't understand him. That Joseph's lectures are too deep for the ordinary mind [illegible] fact, and it is difficult to understand what [illegible] him to go to that country.

An Indian chief, while in Washington, was taken to a burlesque show. After the performance he remarked, through an interpreter, that the great father was very kind to send the good Indian [illegible] when they were so much needed at home.

Two ladies recently presented themselves at the door of a theater and [illegible] asked what [illegible] replied that [illegible] special costume, whereupon the [illegible] bawled out, "Two ladies without any clothes!"

It appears that the great Moltke does not receive [illegible] to enable him to get into England [illegible] He remarked [illegible] different plans for [illegible] have not been able to [illegible] it."

The American [illegible] hotel, to be built on [illegible] London, will be nine stories high, accommodate 300 guests, and will be conducted strictly after the American fashion. An expedition will soon start for Africa in search of a suitable diamond for the clerk's breastpin.

PERSONAL AND GENERAL.

Hon. E. P. Beauchamp, who has been confirmed consul at St. Gallo, Switzerland, is the distinguished diplomat who tendered his "spile hart" to his lady love in an epistolary effusion of burning fervency.

Blanton Duncan estimates the area of the overflowed districts of the south at 32,000,000 acres, and 500,000 people will be compelled to seek other lands and employment. He says it will take $10,000,000 to relieve their necessities.

The star route scandal bears fruit, as appears by the fact that the actual cost of the star route service in the Pacific states and territories under Gen. Brady was $2,844,165. Contracts for the same service this year have been executed for $1,125,149.

Mr. Pickens of Colorado, having become the father of triplets, has christened them Grant, Hayes and Garfield, and they will go through life as Grant Pickens, Hayes Pickens and Garfield Pickens—three different kinds of Pickens. The Grant Pickens should be much the largest.

The Chinaman doesn't come to this country because it is an asylum for the oppressed. He wants to make $1000 and return to China to live on the interest. He objects decidedly to being buried in America. He declines to vote. He has his own religion and customs suit him exactly, and he has an eye single to business.

Anthony Comstock is making a new move against the lottery companies, and he says he will make a test case against two Brooklyn men who have drawn the $30,000 prize in the Louisiana lottery. He is said to have discovered a section of the New York revised statutes providing that all money so won shall be forfeited to the poor in the country where the money is deposited. The money was in bank, but the lucky ones took fright, drew it out, and one of them is already on his way to Europe. Most people who draw prizes, however, will not let the fear of the busy Anthony deter them from enjoying the fruits of their investment.

SELECTED MISCELLANY.

To live long, it is necessary to live slowly.—Cicero.

The first sure symptom of a mind of health is rest of heart and pleasure felt at home.

It is difficult to be sick without care, and easy to be happy without wealth.—Chatfield.

They have a new town in Wasco county called Fossil, located on Butte creek. It takes its name from the remains of defunct monsters found in that vicinity. The gates over carriageways are arched with mastodon ribs and the old walls are paved with the teeth of elephants that perished before the flood.

President Wood has been re-elected by the society of American water-colorists, and Henry Farrer was elected secretary. The board of control consists of Messrs. G. H. Smillie, Fenn, T. Moran and F. S. Church. About $10,000 gross receipts and a profit of nearly $2500 were obtained by the last exhibition. This profit is $2000 less than last year for water-colors alone, but the etchings this year brought in $2500, bringing the total profits higher than ever before. The much vilified hanging committee made a spirited defense against charges of favoritism through its chairman, Mr. F. H. Smith.

According to a London weekly, the statue of Gladstone by Woolner is more than ordinarily good. "The execution of the face is remarkable, especially the rendering of the skin, the contours of which not only express its texture and suggest its elasticity, but indicate with extraordinary delicacy the flesh and bones below. So subtle is the workmanship that we seem to see the pulsation of the veins behind the temples, where the skin is thin and not tense. The flexibility of the lips, finely drawn and firmly set as they are, could not be better rendered. The eyes have intensity of expression and a fixed regard without demonstrativeness. The irides, inclosed by the massive eyelids, take shadows from the upper eyelids, and, as in nature, are slightly indicated by the changed contours of the eyeballs."

GRATEFUL WOMEN.

None receive so much benefit, and none are so profoundly grateful and show such an interest in recommending Hop Bitters as women. It is the only remedy peculiarly adapted to the many ills the sex is almost universally subject to. Chills and fever, indigestion or deranged liver, constant or periodical sick headaches, weakness in the back or kidneys, pain in the shoulders and different parts of the body, a feeling of lassitude and despondency, are all readily removed by these Bitters.—Courant.

If you are a man of business, weakened by the strain of your duties, avoid stimulants and use Hop Bitters.

If you are young and suffering from any indiscretion or dissipation; if you are married or single, old or young, suffering from poor health or languishing on a bed of sickness, rely on Hop Bitters.

Whoever you are, wherever you are, whenever you feel that your system needs cleansing, toning or stimulating, without intoxicating, take Hop Bitters.

Have you dyspepsia, kidney or urinary complaint, disease of the stomach, bowels, blood, liver or nerves? You will be cured if you use Hop Bitters.

If you are simply weak and low spirited, try it! It may save your life. It has saved hundreds.

If you are a minister, and have overtaxed yourself with your pastoral duties; or a mother worn out with care and work, or a man of business or labor, weakened by the strain of your everyday duties, or a man of letters toiling over your midnight work, Hop Bitters will surely strengthen you.

Thousands die annually from some form of Kidney disease that might have been prevented by a timely use of Hop Bitters.
